Publish time should be at a specific time (Pro)

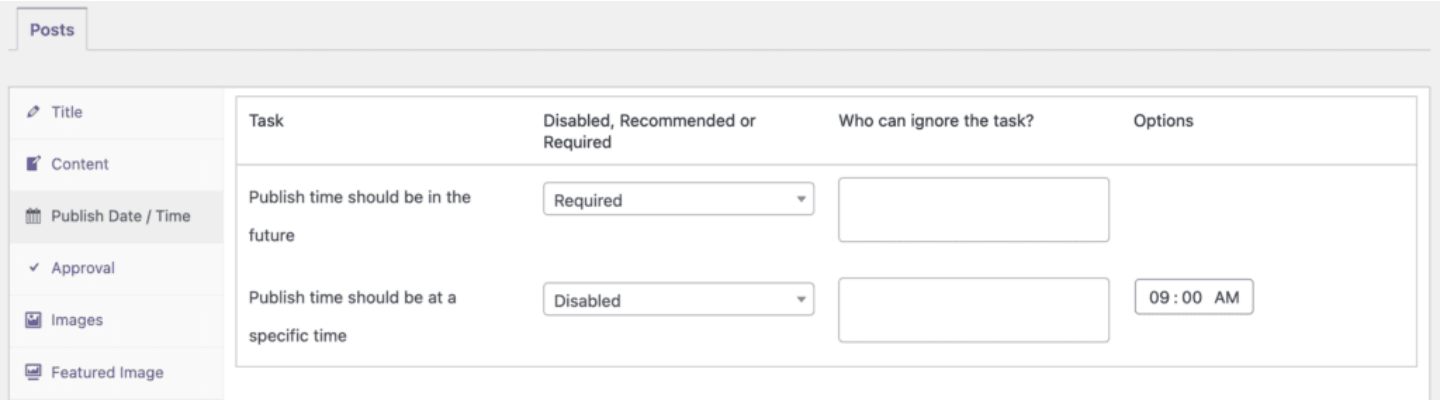
Publish Date / Time Tasks · https://publishpress.com/knowledge-base/publish-time-specific/

This feature requires the Pro version of the PublishPress Checklists plugin.

With the Pro version of the PublishPress Checklists plugin, you can make sure that your WordPress posts are created with a specific Publish time. This ensures that your posts are always made public at the time of day you specify.

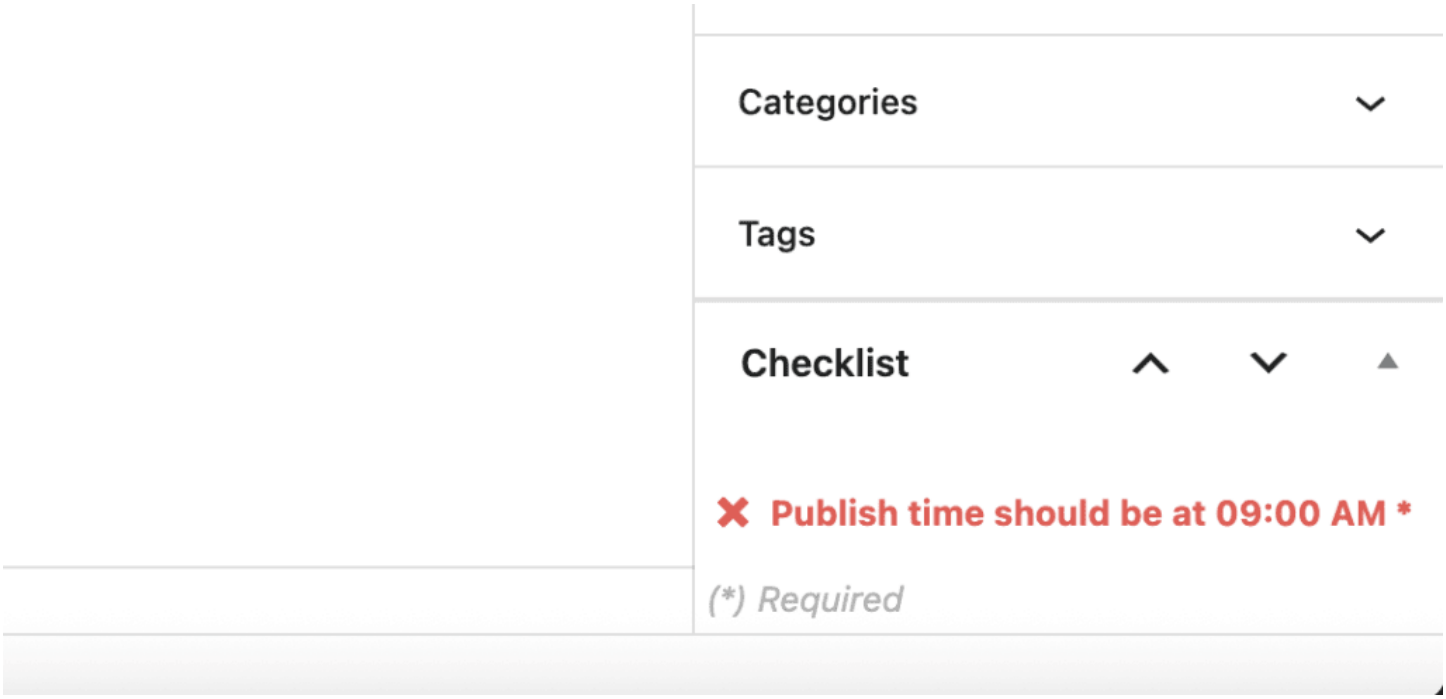
If the publish time isn't correct, you can choose to show a warning, or prevent the post from being published.

- Click the "Publish Date / Time" tab. The screenshot below shows the “Publish time should be at a specific time” option.
- You can choose from "Disabled, Recommended, or Required" options.
- You can set the required time in the "Options" box.

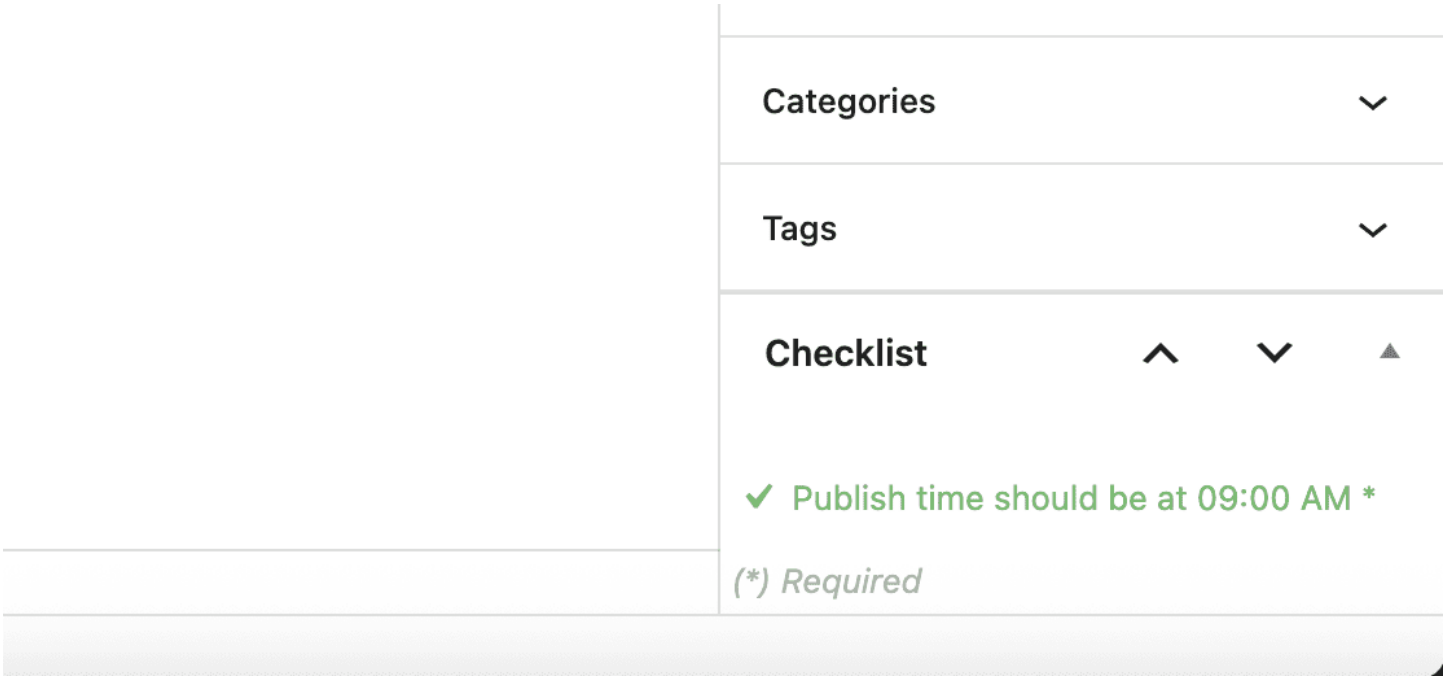


Number Of Words

If you enable the "Publish time should be at a specific time" option, it will be visible when you edit a post. If your publish date is not correct, this task will be marked in red in the sidebar.



If your publish date is correct, this task will be marked in green in the sidebar.



Text Words Red